The South Dakota Grassland Coalition is hosting the East River Grazing School in Marvin, SD area during July. Contact us at (605) 280-0127 or visit SDGrass.org for more information.

The Grazing School is designed by producers for producers or anyone that has an interest in learning how to best manage grasslands to benefit livestock.

The agenda features presenters from state and federal agencies, and universities. Area producers share their expertise about various topics related to grazing techniques and grassland management. Participants will hear presentations in the classroom and gain experience with hands-on activities in the field.

Space is limited. Early registration is encouraged to participate.

The vision for the South Dakota Grazing School is:

To offer grazing land managers of South Dakota useful tools to maintain healthy and diverse ecosystems while optimizing available natural resources.
