Prescribed Fire Class & Live Training

This fire school and training event is hosted by SDSU Extension in partnership with state and federal agencies and non-government agencies for private landowners and land management staff. The day will begin with a morning classroom session focused on prescribed fire orientation including planning, weather, safety, communications, objectives, and other subjects. The afternoon session will offer hands-on and live-fire training exercises (weather dependent) specifically focused on landowner/manager needs including tools, various pumps, burn unit design, ignition techniques, and overall fire management. Students can expect to receive instruction in all phases of prescribed fire for several fuel types and conditions from experienced instructors.
